DETAILED ACTION

1. The following communication is in response to Applicant's amendment filed 20 March 2006.

Status of Claims

2. Claims 7 and 17 are currently amended. Claims 1-6, 8-16 and 18-22 are previously presented. Claims 23-26 are newly added.

Response to Arguments

3. Claims 1-26 contain two inventions distinct from one another. Therefore, Applicant's arguments filed 20 March 2006 will be addressed after the election of the appropriate invention by the Applicant and currently claims 1-26 remain rejected as previously stated in the previous office action, mailed 19 October 2005.

Election/Restrictions

4. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-6 and 23 are drawn to providing a consumer with personalized credit-related information based on credit history data of the consumer, classified in class 705, subclass 38.

Art Unit: 3624

- II. Claims 7-16, 17-22, 24 and 25 are drawn to providing pre-approved offers to consumers based on a selection of a pre-approved offer from multiple merchants, classified in class 705, subclass 37.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

5. Inventions I and II are directed to related processes. The related inventions are distinct if the inventions as claimed do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants; and the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, invention I provides a consumer with personalized credit-related information based on credit history date of the consumer and provides a summary report to the consumer suggesting steps to improve the consumer's credit score. Invention II is a method for providing pre-approved offers to consumers based on credit-related information in which at least one pre-approved offer for a consumer to receive is selected and it is selected from multiple merchants. It would not be obvious when providing credit information and recommending steps to improve a credit score that it would include pre-approved offers.

Therefore, the inventions are distinct as they have materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect.

6. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 3624

7. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
